AMTC Introduces the FixedFlo™ Automatic Faucet System

Company Continues Its Green Market Leadership

Woodland Hills, CA—March 25, 2011--Advanced Modern Technologies Corporation (AMTC) is pleased to announce today the introduction of the FixedFlo™ automatic faucet system, the industry's first non-adjustable, internally-controlled water saving faucet. AMTC's patent pending FixedFlo™ mechanism is designed to flow at its rated gallons per minute regardless of variations in water pressure or aerator utilized. The FixedFlo™ comes in a non-adjustable 0.4gpm, 0.5gpm and 1.0gpm water flow models.

“The FixedFlo™ Faucet is the first commercial faucet that is guaranteed to deliver years of maintenance free water savings,” said Leo Maercovich, Vice President of Sales. “Until now, the water saving benefits of an automatic faucet system could be defeated by changing or eliminating the restrictive aerator. We are pleased to continue our environmental leadership with yet another cost effective water saving device for the away-from-home washroom.”

All AMTC faucets are designed to work in challenging hard water environments as AMTC does not utilize a diaphragm or a restrictive aerator (each of which have been proven to be significant points of failure for competitor offerings). AMTC faucets use a reliable motor drive system with multiple power sources (including with redundant back-up power) and are backed with an industry leading 5-year warranty.
